The American people point with pride to the fact that the blunders of the royal family could not turn Mary Anderson's head.

The democrats of Ohio are "going" to the step of a funeral march. The democrats generally tread to that kind of music.

The Indianapolis Sentinel is a democratic paper, but it is not blind to certain things in the democratic party and says: "There is no way to get rid of New York Tammany and the Inquirer than anything let it give them a check and take a receipt in full before the campaign of 1891 begins."

This is the kind of harmony we see in the democratic party in New York and Ohio. It will not be much better next year, because that party is one thing that can't be reformed.

The appointment by ex-Governor Blackburn, of Kentucky, of 107 colonels to be members of his staff, has occasioned much amusement, and the Charleston (South Carolina) News and Courier, a democratic paper, makes this suggestion: "It would be a good idea to assign the colonels to the command of the 845 convicts the governor has turned loose upon the long-suffering people of Kentucky. This would give each colonel more than seven convicts to look after, and it would be a very poor colonel who could not command a regiment of seven."

There has been a decided progress made in the south since the people down there heeded the advice of the republicans of the north, which was to raise more cotton to the acre and deal in less of the out-throat politics. Within a few years many of the leading newspapers in the south have annually devoted their issues for the first of September to a carefully prepared showing of the commercial and material growth of their respective cities during the preceding twelve months, and very many of them this year present very gratifying exhibits. Nothing will make the south prosper like cotton, plows, and machinery. These, and a free bull and a fair count, will give the south a progress that it well deserves but has never enjoyed.

THE FROST AND TOBACCO AND CORN.

The whole western country has suffered severely by the premature frost which made its visitation on Sunday morning. For three or four days this calamity was feared for the reason that the temperature had been exceedingly low for the first week in September. The corn was not prepared for this visitation. The late spring and the remarkably cool summer had kept the corn back, and under the most favorable circumstances it would not have been able to withstand the blighting influence of a frost before the last week of the month. Now that it has come so early and with such deadly effect, the corn has suffered most severely and much of it will prove a total failure. Many farmers were unfortunate in planting Nebraska seed with the hope of securing a larger and a better kind of corn; but it grew to stalk without earing and none of it can mature. The home seed corn was also backward, and was caught by the frost when it was in the milk, and very much of this will never make salable corn.

Much of the tobacco has also been ruined by the invading frost. Not one quarter of the crop had been cut, and that which stood in the field and was so promising last week, has been destroyed. The loss will fall quite heavily on many small farmers who largely depended on their tobacco crop.

The frost came this year much earlier than it has since 1875. It came at that time on the 24th and 25th of August, but a warm summer had carried the corn pretty well along, so that it did not suffer as much damage as it has by the frost on Sunday morning.

Milwaukee Exposition Open.

The opening of the THIRD ANNUAL EXPOSITION BY THE MILWAUKEE EXPOSITION ASSOCIATION occurred on Thursday, September 6, amid great enthusiasm, speeches having been delivered by President John Plankinton and Hon. E. D. Holtz. The attendance was large, and the universal expression from all sides was that the exposition of 1883 excelled in every particular either of its predecessors, one great feature being the symmetry of arrangement and the prevailing order of the institution, all departments being complete and of great interest to visitors. The incandescent lights in the art gallery are a great improvement over the former manner of lighting this important portion of the building, the grand pictures on exhibition being shown in an excellent manner. The people of Wisconsin have never before had an opportunity of studying the wonders of natural history approaching that which is afforded by the presence of the World's museum at the exposition. A sight of the professor's wonderful collection is alone worth several times the price of admission to the whole exhibition.

Each day will be in attendance every afternoon and evening. Grand organ concerts every morning. The special features this year are varied and interesting. There are many things about the exposition which will attract specially interested people from the interior. The conservatory is one of the prettiest things in the whole business. The florists have made the place very attractive, and it is destined to become a popular resort.

Milwaukee and the whole state of Wisconsin are proud of their exposition, which has done, and is doing, so much towards elevating and entertaining the people. Let every one visit it and be convinced of its grandeur. The railroad will carry you at reduced rates, and no opportunity can be found for visiting the Cream City.

Saloratus and Soda may be as white as snow, and yet be adulterated; and it may be off color and perfectly pure. Recent improvements place DeLand's brands ahead of all others, in that while they are of the purest quality possible to attain.

AN EARLY VISIT.

Jack Frost Puts in an Appearance Rather Prematurely

And the Corn Crop of Minnesota and Michigan Suffers a Nip.

Reports from a Wide Area Tell of His Presence—The News from Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Other States.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 10.—Advises as to the damage to corn by the frost of Saturday night are meager and of a general nature. All agree, however, that the cold wave was widespread, and the resultant loss will be great. Along the line of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba roads the cold was very severe, some northern localities, and as far south as Grand Island, Iowa, being reported to be the thickness of two inches, and remained unthawed until late in the day. From the pine woods in the north come reports of a light snow. On the upper railways but little corn is raised, and the aggregate damage can not be great. The frost was also heavy throughout central and southern Minnesota. Reports along the Omaha road, from the Southern Minnesota, the Hastings and Dakota, and the Winona and St. Peter all have the same tale. "Frost heavy and corn badly injured." Fortunately the small grains are past the reach of harm, and the reports from thrashings continue so good that the best informed will not drop one jot from their estimate of forty millions of bushels as the aggregate yield of Minnesota for 1882. Iowa has had its hard time this year. The hot weather is needed absolutely never came, or came in sports of such short duration that no real good toward turning the ear was accomplished. The growth of stalk has been luxuriant—more so than usual—but an apparently fruitful field, when examined, showed little but husks. The frost has completed the damage, and probably lost a crop is all the most sanguine have hope for. The wheat yield this year in Minnesota is 62,849, an increase of 11,328 acres over 1882. The yield was 16,005,771, or 26.42 bushels to the acre. Good judges put the average yield for this year at 18 bushels, and are doubtful about that as probably too high. Eighteen would give a total yield of the state of 11,517,120, 5,688,254 bushels less than the crop of 1882. Later reports may make a better showing, but to build upon them would be to build upon a very uncertain basis. The wheat yield this year has been less than that of the season prior to 1877.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 10.—Night rains have fallen in some of the northern sections of this state. Further advice regarding the cold snap of Friday and Saturday show that the damage to corn has been irreparable, and lead to a modification of the judgment of the total yield of Minnesota. It is not now probable that the total will reach 8,000,000 bushels, which is less than half the yield of 1882.

MICHIGAN. AUGUSTA, Mich., Sept. 10.—The northerly gales which swept over this section Friday and Saturday have gone, and in their wake we find vegetation in a deplorable state. During Saturday night the wind fell, and next morning every tender plant and all vines of whatever nature hang their heads in frozen. Many farmers have fears for their peaches, and they certainly have been hurt some, but to what extent cannot be said for a day or so. Late varieties of potatoes are said to be ruined on some farms. At 8 o'clock Sunday morning the thermometer stood within five degrees of the freezing point. At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, while it was warm in the sun, it was quite cool in the shade, the wind having again turned northerly, and more frost is feared. Should this happen, the hopes of all around would be blasted, and despair will fill the hearts of the people.

COLUMBIANA, Mich., Sept. 10.—A heavy frost visited this section Saturday night and created havoc in everybody's garden and in the country generally. Unless we have further severe frosts considerable corn will come out in fair shape, but much of it is nipped so that it will never ripen.

ILLINOIS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—Dispatches from various parts of Eastern and Central Illinois show that a light frost was pretty general throughout these sections Saturday night, and most localities report indications favorable for a repetition. From Stanton and other points in Macoupin county, reports in general concur and may be summed up about as follows: The first frost of the season was visible here. It was not heavy enough to hurt the corn or apple crop. From Morgan, Scott and Pike counties the night was chilly, and some points report frost, while others say if there was any frost it was entirely too light to hurt corn. Jersey, Madison and Bond counties report frost, but corn too far along to be injured. From Clinton, in Daviess county, comes a report of frost in that county that did great damage to corn. The same report says nearly all the corn received there of the preceding frost in all the surrounding counties, and in most of them the crop was not far enough advanced to be safe, and there will be a great loss to the farmers. In that section of the state the prospects pointed to a more severe visitation to-night. No damage, or very little, has been done in Missouri, owing to the fact that the crop had sufficiently matured to be out of danger.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Advises from Dixon, Peoria, Sterling, Chenoa, Urbana and Springfield, report frost, but generally no great damage to corn, the frost not being severe enough.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 10.—The frost in Wisconsin seems to have been very general, and, in most directions, very severe. At Sturgeon Bay there was a repetition of the severe cold on Saturday night, and the cold was totally ruined. Black frost put in an appearance on the low lands and corn in such places was ruined. Two weeks more are needed to mature corn. An Appleton dispatch says corn is ruined there. It was planted late and is now near maturity. Wheat and barley are doing well. At Marshall corn will yield nothing. Advice from different portions of the state vary, in some places in corn being ruined and at others little or no damage being done.

IOWA.

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Sept. 10.—A very heavy white frost was seen everywhere in this part of the country Sunday morning, and it is generally believed that the corn crop has suffered great damage, though how much can not be told as yet. Fruits and vegetables are reported killed everywhere. Corn withered badly to-day, and it is feared the next two or three days will show disastrous results. The mercury stood at 40 degrees, and has been low all day. It began to rise at 10 this evening. It is thought the frost will be light. Reports from other portions of the state are to the effect that the frost has jeopardized to a greater or less extent the chances of the corn crop restoring. The injury is greater to low than on high lands, but it will require two or three days to determine the extent of the damage. The frost was general throughout the state.

IN GENERAL. CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Dispatches from points in Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas state that the cold snap has not hurt the corn.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

War Apparently Imminent.—The Firmness of Marquis Tseng.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Public attention has centered during the past week on the relations of France with China, and the general belief is expressed that they will go to war. As in such an event England would almost inevitably be involved, the progress of negotiations is watched with deep anxiety. A vigorous move is making to have the matter submitted to the arbitration of an independent power, which power England would like to be, although both the parties at issue cannot but mistrust her impartiality. The impression prevails, however, that arbitration will be impossible. The greatest activity is manifested in French naval military affairs, and a number of gunboats have been ordered to sea. The outlook is unpromising, and is regarded in France with great uneasiness. The attitude of the French government is uncertain. Until the last twenty-four hours it has appeared careless of the critical condition of affairs. Now, however, judging from the utterances of the Marquis Tseng, it manifests a disposition more pacific and conciliatory.

Bar Granville admits that it was the task of his life to move the Marquis Tseng in the present emergency. It required the most earnest solicitation to induce the ambassador to consent to resume negotiations with France; and Granville was compelled to point out that if China's attitude remained unchanged it would involve British interests as to control of the English Channel, and force her, in the event of war, to insist that France should not interfere with her protection in the event of war, the English government have sent orders to Chatham for fresh crews of marines to be sent out at once to reinforce the British Chinese squadron.

DISAPPROVAL OF BUTLER.

His Administration Declared a Failure and Himself a Humiliation.

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Over 100 gentlemen met at Young's hotel in response to a call of the Massachusetts Reform Association, among them being the most prominent independent Republicans of the state, including Gen. F. A. Walker, Congressman Theodore Lyman, John Quincy Adams, Daniel C. Davis, and Samuel Davies. The object of the meeting was to consider what action to take with reference to the coming election. The call denounced Governor Butler as an unsuitable person to hold the office of governor. An address to the citizens of the state was framed, declaring Governor Butler's administration a failure, and his person in the office a humiliation, and his system he represents more dangerous and insidious than the man, and calling upon all who believe in civil service reform to unite in forcing his nomination and doing away with double-faced platforms.

More Anti-Jewish Riots.

AGRAM, Sept. 10.—A crowd of persons smashed the windows of a cafe and several houses occupied by Jews. The military fired on the mob. Several rioters were arrested. The disorders were not suppressed until 2 o'clock in the morning. The communal elections have been postponed. There were collisions in the country districts between peasants and gendarmes. Several of the former were killed and wounded.

Investigation shows that the rioting was very serious. The infantry fired two volleys. The bussars afterward cleared the streets, which were then picketed by troops all night.

Rioting was renewed, but the rioters were dispersed.

Pitching into the "Thunder."

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The North German Gazette in an editorial attacks the advice recently given France by The London Times to relinquish her colonial enterprises and concentrate her forces at home, which means, according to The Gazette, against Germany. The Times article, it says, would show greater political wisdom by refraining from childish attacks on The Gazette. If the Times retained its former opinion, it would perceive the recent article in the Gazette, which was written to maintain peace, helped lessen the tension between England and France, the effect of which was eloquently shown in the release by the French in Madagascar of Shaw, the English missionary.

An Irish Demonstration.

DUBLIN, Sept. 10.—A demonstration under the auspices of the Irish National League was held at Waterford in which several well-known agitators took part. Michael Davitt, in a speech, said the object of the league was to achieve national independence for Ireland. At a banquet in the evening Richard Power, member of parliament for Waterford city, replying to the toast, "Ireland as a Nation," described England as a nation insulted by France, lured by Europe, and harassed and embarrassed by Ireland.

Facts Concerning Trades Unions.

FALL RIVER, Sept. 10.—Secretary Howard's report to the Spinnery's union contains interesting statistics regarding trades unions and strikes. During eighteen years past there have been, he says, 263 strikes of cotton-makers, of which 294 were successful. They cost $282,444, but they added $1,900,000 a year to the wages of the strikers, and the prevention in reductions is estimated at $500,000. Mr. Howard outlives trades unions. Their membership increased from 600,000 in 1869 to 1,500,000, counting only that in America and England.

The Seductive Variety Actress.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Lord Dunmore, the future Lord Faversham, says the Sun's cable, is shortly to be married to Miss Nellie Leamer, who, with her sister Kate, has been a reigning star for some time at one of the London variety shows. The latter attracted the attention of the prince of Wales by her singing of the song "Go and Inform Your Father," and has since been extensively advertised as the royal favorite.

Lightning Time Afloat.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The 17th feature of the Athletic meeting on the grounds of the Williamsburg Athletic club was the wonderful performance of Frank P. Murray in walking two miles in 13 minutes 55 1-5 seconds, beating the best previous amateur record, that of Harry Armstrong, by 3-4 seconds.

Young men, middle aged men and all who suffer from early indiscretions will find Allen's Brain Food the most powerful invigorant ever introduced; once restored from it there is no relapse. Try it, it never fails. $1.00 for $5. At all druggists, or by mail from J. H. Allen, 316 First Avenue, New York City.

DISCREET MARY ANDERSON.

How She Snaubed the Prince of Wales.—The Cat's Paws.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The following story is told by Mary Anderson, the talented American actress. Upon her arrival she was invited to some of the best houses in London, stories were told of her beauty and wit that made the prince of Wales very anxious to meet her. Miss Anderson was informed of this flattering expression of his royal highness; but, most unaccountably, as it seemed to her English friends, she showed no desire of the presentation. Finally, a gentleman who knew her very well was asked by the prince to say to Mary Anderson that he would be pleased if she would indicate a time when it would be agreeable to her to receive an introduction to his royal highness. She replied that while she wished to show no disrespect to the future ruler of England she must decline to receive him. Such a reply had never before been made to a request for an introduction by a prince of the blood, and she was asked to explain. An intention to do so, she answered, "I am doing so good professionally, and I know very well how he regards actresses generally. Personally, I have always maintained my dignity and self respect, and I do not mean to put myself in any position voluntarily where I may be compelled to forget them. Therefore I must decline to be presented to him. I have gone this far in life without a breath of scandal attaching to me, and I do not mean now to do anything that might change that condition." This settled the matter. The story got out in London and was widely repeated, and it was noticeable after that that the prince of Wales invited Miss Anderson to her garden party, an honor she has never before conferred on any actress of the English stage. It is a pity that the prince and princess are eating themselves very much talked about in connection with the prince of Wales could not follow Miss Anderson's example.

Miss Anderson proposes a second appearance in the "Hunchback." Mr. Gilbert refuses to allow her to play "Gaiety." At her debut Mrs. Langtry sent her a basket of lilies. The Lyceum continues to be crowded. Mr. Sala writes in The London News: "I see in the very highest capacity, but fail to discover her in her acting." Labouchere says in Truth: "Mr. Morris is anything like as good as Mary Anderson. I trust the English public will have the pleasure of seeing her before long."

A LIBEL ON US.

American Tourists Charged With Outrageous Vandalism.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—An act of vandalism which has aroused the indignation of all England has just come to light in Warwick castle. As all travelers will remember, after the Warwick vasa, the chief object of interest and value in the famous museum of the castle is a splendid work of art, besides its rare and precious is studded with rare and costly old jewels, whose intrinsic value alone amounts to several thousand pounds. This table is supposed to be never left unguarded during the hours when visitors are allowed through the ancient demesne, and is watched with jealous care at all times. The other day, to the intense indignation and disgust of the keepers, it was discovered that the precious relic had been subjected to the depredations of either thieves or vandals. The table was literally ruined, the more valuable of the carvings had been pried or chipped off, and the body of the article was all split and broken, and a great number of the jewels gone. All the fragments but the most splintered had been carried away. A thorough investigation was made, and it was ascertained that a party of Americans had been inspecting the table a short time before the discovery of the outrage. The Americans were the last visitors in the apartment before the discovery, and they were permitted to continue their examinations of the relic during a brief absence of the keeper. When he returned the table was a ruin. An alarm was sounded, but no trace of the party could be found. This act of robbery has produced a profound sensation. Many persons refuse to believe that the party described by the keepers were really Americans. It is suggested that the party were possibly disguised thieves, who had intended to mutilate and carry away fragments of the Warwick vase for the purpose of securing a ransom, and falling in that design resorted to the attack on the table and robbery of its jewels. One bad result of this crime against art will be the necessarily greater solicitude in the future of all the treasures of the Warwick castle.

Marwood, the Hangman.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Marwood, the hangman, it is now stated, died of congestion of the lungs. He was a very hard drinker and his disease was undoubtedly brought on by his intemperate habits. The rumors which prevailed previous to the performance of the autopsy, that he had been poisoned by Irish invincibles, were simply absurd. Marwood was undoubtedly the great modern apostle of the art of scientific hanging. So devoted was he to his vocation that he could not understand the detestation with which his office was looked upon, and in his will he bequeathed his pet ropes to his friends. In consequence of the enormous number of applications which have been received by the government for the position of hangman, made vacant by Marwood's death, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, home secretary, has requested The Central News to announce that the appointment is not a government one. The sharps select the hangman, and he is in their pay and under their control.

Cleveland Democrats.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—The Cuyahoga county Democratic convention adjourned, after a ten hours' session. It was a noisy, stormy, disorderly convention, the fight between rival candidates being exceedingly bitter. At the primaries, Mayor John H. Murray carried everything for his candidate, Robert W. Ellis, who was also looked upon as the leader of John W. Bookwalter's force. Of the ticket nominated only one is an anti-Bookwalter man. All the candidates for representative are for Bookwalter. It is likely a bolt will break, and that the Plain Dealer will refuse to support the ticket. The fight here is identical to that in Cincinnati.

Shakespeare's Bones.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Sun's cable says: There has been a great deal of excitement over the proposition to open Shakespeare's grave at Stratford. As it was generally understood that the vicar and the town authorities would not interfere, the intention was to compare the skeleton with the well-known Stratford bust, but the design will not be carried out, the mayor having published the determination of the common council to throw any one attempting the act into the river Avon.

Iowa Politics.

CHARLES CITY, Iowa, Sept. 10.—The Republican mass meetings in the afternoon and evening at this place yesterday were a success. The weather was inclement, so the meetings were held in the large opera house, which were packed with people. Gen. B. M. Frentiss spoke in the afternoon. Senator Wilson spoke in the evening for two hours. The meetings here have done much to solidify the various factions in the county.

—We learn by a postal card from Hon. J. A. Sleeper, of Chicago, that Mr. Albert Jones died in that city on Saturday evening, after an illness of about three weeks. The deceased formerly lived in Janesville, coming here in March, 1849.

—In the circuit court to-day, Judge Bennett granted a divorce in the case of Susan Oakley against John Oakley, on the ground of a failure to provide. The parties are from Beloit. Ogden B. Fetters, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, and A. A. Jackson for the defendant.

—A young man, with a good load of poor whisky, was blowing off steam on River street yesterday morning, and not satisfied with his drunken capers in the streets he threw a beer-keg through the window of a River street saloon, breaking three windowpanes. He soon fell into the company of Marshal Hogan and was taken to the county jail.

—Who is the Prettiest Girl in America? Is a question that would perplex a congress of connoisseurs assembled to nominate the most beautiful. But such an assembly would not be surprised to learn that the most charming of their sex, on this side of the Atlantic, enhance the beauty and preserve the soundness of their teeth with soapwort, since every-body knows that the ladies prefer it to any and all dentifrices. Let no man say after this, that women lack judgment.

Persons.

THE FREEZE.

The Heavy Frosts of Saturday and Sunday Nights, Sept. 8th and 9th.

The Damage to the Corn and Tobacco Crops of Rock County.

The people of Rock county will long remember September 8th and 9th, being the dates of the visitation of the severe frosts, by which the corn and tobacco crop of the county, if not the entire north-west, was almost totally destroyed. In Rock county from one-quarter to one-half of the tobacco crop had been harvested, but not more than one-quarter of the corn crop, the acreage of which is returned by the assessors at 70,672 acres, escaped injury. Therefor the loss to the farmers of the county by the freeze up of Saturday and Sunday nights, September 8th and 9th, will reach many thousands of dollars. Much of the corn crop was late—and such fields are a total loss, while much of the remainder will only do to fatten hogs during the early fall months, before the corn spoils. We publish the following figures, showing the acreage of corn and tobacco in this county, that our readers may make their own estimates of the damage. The figures are compiled from the returns made by the county assessors, and can be relied upon as correct:

Parties who have been in the country several miles around this city, report that the frost was as severe in the country as in the city, and that the corn and tobacco crop is a complete ruin.

Other reports from farmers, who have been in the city, think that much of the corn can be saved, but to what extent, they do not report; some think, not over one quarter of the crop. Not over one-half the tobacco crop has been harvested, and that portion out in the frost of Saturday and Sunday nights, is reported as a complete loss.

More Horse Stealing.

There was considerable excitement on the streets last evening, when the fact became known that Dr. Henry Palmer's horse and buggy had been stolen. At about half past eight o'clock the doctor left his horse and buggy in its accustomed place, in front of his office on east Milwaukee street, and shortly after nine, having occasion to again use it, he was surprised on arriving at the place to find it missing. He at once procured a light and found that the horse and buggy had been driven east on Milwaukee street, but he could not track it further than Bluff street.

Upon making inquiries, parties reported having seen such an outfit on Milton avenue, and on the Beloit road. The telephone was brought into use, and instruction given to keep a good lookout for the thief.

Dr. J. B. Whiting, who left the city at about ten o'clock to answer a call out on the Fulton road, heard of the missing horse when he left the city, of course had horse thieves on his mind, and when near Captain Pratt's residence, he discovered a horse and buggy hitched to a telephone pole, and upon close examination found it to be Dr. Palmer's; being in a hurry, he proceeded to Mr. Mark Ripley's residence, and calling that gentleman up, informed him of the circumstance, and Mr. Ripley brought the horse to the city arriving here about eleven o'clock.

Dr. W. H. Palmer, in coming into the city on Milton avenue about nine o'clock, passed a horse and buggy, two men being in the buggy, near the Winans' place, and at once concluded that it was his father's rig. He at once turned around, so sure was he that he was right, but he could not learn anything further. It is supposed that the thieves turned from Milton avenue and went over to the Fulton road, intending to again pass through the city and make their escape. The doctor recovered, everything excepting a lap robe and whip. It was a very bold attempt to steal a horse, and for a time there was considerable excitement on the streets.

Another Burglary.

The depot at Hanover Junction was broken open on Saturday evening by a gang of burglars, who succeeded in breaking open several trunks in the baggage room, scattering the contents over the floor, and making way with more or less property, just what amount is not now known, as the agent could not tell what was taken from the trunks, which belonged to belated passengers, which had been left in the baggage room, Mr. O. D. Mathis, the agent at Hanover Junction, informed us that he lost two suits of clothes, and other articles, valued in all at $103.50 as follows: Overcoat, $15; two suits of clothes, $35; silver watch, $10; pair shoes, $5; kid gloves, 5.50; two silk handkerchiefs, $2; two valises, $5; three overcoats, $45; pair pants, $2; other articles $2. One of the valises was found yesterday morning on the St. Paul track, a short distance this side the Junction. No clue to the gang of thieves. Mr. Mathis came to this city to replenish his wardrobe, visiting the Star clothing house of Fred Sonneborn for that purpose, where we met him, and obtained the above facts.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ELLEN GAGEN.

Death, which always brings with it mystery and sadness, in removing one whom by some tie of relationship or friendship was dear to many, entered the household of Mr. Michael Gagen, Racine street, third ward, about 12 o'clock, Saturday night, and relieved from suffering his wife, Mrs. Ellen Gagen. Mrs. Gagen had been sick for about three weeks; but as she had been subject to severe attacks of illness, little alarm was felt concerning the danger of her last attack, until within a few days of her death. The ultimate cause of her death, was inflammation of the bowels, and though the most skillful treatment was administered, death proved the victor. Mrs. Gagen was a woman who, by her industry and goodness, had won the respect and confidence of all who made her acquaintance, being a kind neighbor and true friend. She leaves a husband and three children—Tessie, Johnnie, and Grace—only four years old, whom the family adopted last May, coming as one of the little orphans, from the New York orphan asylum.

The funeral services took place at St. Patrick's church this morning, at nine o'clock. High mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Father McGinnity, who also made some touching remarks, in which he paid a fitting tribute to the deceased, and the uncertainty of all that is mortal. A large procession followed the remains to the grave.

MRS. H. E. PATTERSON.

Mrs. H. E. Patterson died at her home near the blind institute last evening, after an illness of nearly seven years, of dropsy. The deceased had resided in this city a number of years, and enjoyed a large circle of intimate friends, who with her husband and family, will deeply mourn her end.

The funeral will take place at her late home at ten o'clock to-morrow forenoon.

Heart affections, kidney and liver troubles affect nearly one-half of all mankind. Yet how many heedless pass through a shortened life giving no care to these complaints which cause the human family such great distress. Does your back ache? Are your bowels constipated? Have you fits of dizziness? Are your first warnings. Delay is dangerous. Be wise in time. Regain perfect health by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

Mr. William Clark, Orono River, Wis., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured my dyspepsia after other remedies had failed."

Mrs. M. J. Alston, Littleton, N. C., says: "I recommend Brown's Iron Bitters to the nervous and debilitated. It greatly benefited me."

A remedy for Indigestion, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Weakness, Fever, Ague, etc. Golden's Liquid Beef Tonic.

Mattie Vickers.

The opera house contained a fair audience on Saturday evening, to greet Mattie Vickers in her rendition of Gayler's comedy drama, Jaquinta, or Pate and Diamonds. Nothing need be said of the play. It is the same old story, the just child, etc. Those who witnessed the acting of Mattie Vickers on this occasion were more than pleased. She is a splendid little actress; has a winning, expressive face, and sings and dances to the satisfaction of all. In her German dialect acting she steps to the front of Gardner, Karl, and finally captured the audience in her specialty role.

She was ably supported by her husband Mr. Chas. Rogers, Dick Vinton, the bill-poster, who can surely be excelled in his imitations of great actors. The company, as a whole, is one of the best that has been in the city for a long time, and should Mattie Vickers ever appear in Janesville again, she will be greeted by a full house.

Great Revolution in Mistle Number. Lotteries—New and Striking Feature in Single Number Drawings.

On the last Thursday of every month, the Henry College Lottery Co., of Kentucky, will have a public drawing in Masonic hall, Masonic building, Louisville, Ky., to be under the sole charge of Judge W. B. Hoke, Judge of Jefferson county, Ky.

Not Goodwin in "Hobbies." The opera house should be crowded to-morrow evening, on the occasion of the first appearance of Nat. Goodwin in this city. The Louisville Courier-Journal says:

Just as long as Mr. Goodwin keeps "Hobbies" in his repertoire he will draw large and amused audiences. Macaulay's theater was crowded last night in every part of the house, and if applause indicates anything the performance was highly satisfactory. The public never seems to tire of Mr. Goodwin, and from the rise of the curtain on the first scene until its fall the audience is kept in constant laughter by his exceedingly clever acting. The piece has been admirably reconstructed with new music, there is better fun making elements, and it becomes more interesting as it proceeds. The acting of the entire company deserves the utmost praise, though much of the success of the piece is due to the inimitable acting of Mr. Goodwin and his wife (Eliza Weatherly). Miss Jennie Weatherly again appears as the impossible and wonderful fairy. Miss Emie Weatherly has just the dash and comeliness necessary for such a company, and her performance was a pleasure in every way. She has a fine stage presence, a very sweet and sympathetic voice, and sang an aria from "Lip Van Winkle" in an artistic manner. Mr. Herbert played Major Bang with great humor, and Mr. Lee succeeds well in the role of Arthur Doreigh. Of course Mr. Goodwin made a decided hit, and his capital imitations of celebrated actors created prolonged applause, and he was twice called before the curtain. "Hobbies" will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night.

DENTISTRY—ANDERSON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Anderson, North Main street, was the scene of a happy social event at 11 o'clock this forenoon, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter Miss E. Vista Anderson and Mr. Charles E. Bentley, of Cincinnati. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. A. Curtis, pastor of Court street M. E. church, in the presence of the family and a few invited guests. The happy pair at the conclusion of the ceremony, received the hearty congratulations of their friends present, when all sat down to a well loaded table prepared by Mr. George Sturloff, the popular caterer, to which all did ample justice. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley left on the afternoon train for the north, intending to make a short visit with friends in Minnesota, before returning to their home in Cincinnati, where they will reside. The many friends of the bride in this city will wish her and her husband a long and happy life.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD. French Paper.

An interminable train, packed like a carpet bag, enters the depot. An Englishman to an employer:

"Where are all these travelers going?"

"To Paris, to see the fetes."

Another train, not less long nor less crowded, arrives at the same moment from the opposite side.

"And those, where do they come from?"

"From Paris to escape the fetes!" The Englishman looks up at the roof with a dramatic expression.

A VASTA PILE. New Orleans Times-Democrat.

St. Paul, Minn., is proud and happy in the prospective possession of a new million-dollar hotel, more imposing than the Grand Pacific of Chicago and a vaster pile than the far-famed Potter Palmer of Chicago, which cost $2,000,000. The Grand Pacific covers an area of 37,800 square feet, the Potter Palmer 50,000 square feet, and the new hotel will cover 75,000 square feet.
